the service at Cushing Cemetery. Joseph Marcellino, vice-commander of the Legion, welcomed everyone and introduced the Rev. Donald H. Finley, pastor of the Mattapoisett Congregational Church, who gave the invocation. He was followed by Richard Helfand who gave the Gettysburg Address with a very fine feeling for these immortal lines. Richard is a grade 8 pupil at Old Rochester Regional High School.

John R. Moynihan, principal of Mattapoisett's Elementary Schools, spoke eloquently on America and its great ideals and idealists. As an example of the spirit of a patriot in a young man, he spoke of Nathan Hale. He recalled how this youth had bared his neck to his captors and sent these words ringing down the corridors of time: "I only regret that I have but one life to give for my country." He listed the dream of Nathan Hale that all men would be guaranteed the right to worship God in their own way, to have freedom of speech

Mr. Moynihan spoke of his concern with the disturbing events which now threaten the very foundations of freedom. He said, "Our challenge is to keep America strong socially and economically, and above all, if our way of life is to endure, strong spiritually. On this Memorial Day of 1968 remember that each one of us plays an important part in helping to preserve this lovely land of ours."

Also on the program were several selections by the Portuguese-American band.

cause as the crowd gathered on Barstow Street it took off in the opposite direction. The parade had grown so that two divisions were required and in order to assemble the march was begun on Church Street to North and then down Water Street to the Town Wharf. New marchers in the parade and easily the smash hit of the day were the Old Hammond-town Elementary School Band. This band which has been practicing for months under the direction of Jarvis Medeiros was enthusiastically received as they played stirring music as they marched.

At the wharf, taps was played as John Raphael of the Legion Post tossed a wreath on the water in honor of the nation's dead sailors. Then the firing squad saluted the naval heroes. Exercises were also held at Cushing Cemetery. Refreshments were served to all marchers at Legion Hall at the conclusion of the parade. The colors and firing squad visited all other cemeteries in the town for appropriate ceremonies.

This is America

In small towns, particularly on Memorial Day, we realize how rich we are. As we stand in the warm sun with the feel of crisp new grass underfoot, we feel our place in the order of things. The feeling is so intangible that it is hard to name but it is precious to the soul of a human. I believe that it's the essence of worth. In the gentle, orderly confusion of earnest people in an unrehearsed but well remembered program there is such a solid genuineness that no one could capture on any other recorder but the human mind. It is a thing of the earth and the spirit. We gather together to honor our people whose spirit we still feel and whose bodies are in the quiet earth warmed by the spring sun. Once our fathers, mothers, grandfathers and grandmothers stood, as we stand, and honored their dead. Someday, we hope and trust, these children in the brownie and scout uniforms, in the band and toddling on the sidelines will recall this moment as they stand here to remember us.

Each has his place in the sun. We all do our best to pass to the next generation this country as strong as we can, as beautiful as it is possible to keep it, and with as much integrity as we can preserve.

In the words of Lincoln, "The world will little note nor long remember what we say here," but God willing, they will remember what we try to do with affection and nostalgia just as we remember and are grateful.

Rochester Historical Society

Films of old homes on Cape Cod and Nantucket Island were shown at a recent meeting of the Rochester Historical Society held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gurney. Conrad Bernier presented the movies and commented on the dates, architecture and history of many of the homes.

During the business session, presided over by Ralph Walker, chairman, reports were made on the recent presentation of exterior date plaques to owners of two Rochester homes which are over 200 years old. The first plaque was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Douglas whose large colonial home is located on North Avenue and was originally built around 1750 by members of the Bennett family. The other plaque was received by Mr. and Mrs. James Gurney, both officers in the Historical Society. Their Early American home, known as the "Ithamer Coombs House", was also built during the middle of the 18th century and is located on North Avenue. The Society is offering to prepare plaques for any Rochester home which was built prior to 1768. A list of criteria to be used in verifying the date of a house has been drawn up by the Date Committee. For further information persons may contact Mr. Walker or Mr. Gurney, chairman of the Date Committee.

Many of the gravestones which date as far back as 1725 have either been buried or broken. Reading Program Discussed

SIPPICAN SCHOOL PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Miss Etta-Hix Allen, principal of Sippican Elementary School in Marion, was the guest speaker at the meeting of Parents and Friends of Handicapped and Retarded Children at the Mattapoisett Inn, Mattapoisett. She was introduced by Mrs. Dennis Sylvia, president.

The three-year Federally financed reading program was discussed by Miss Allen. Funds were allocated in January, 1968 and the program began in February with 16 pupils. Two instructors were trained by personnel from Bourne, the central point for the federal program.

The instructors are covering several phases of help. The first is to assist children with severe reading problems and another is to attempt to find out what causes children to get into reading difficulties. There is no pressure of marks in this group of children and they do not participate in the regular reading classes.

mented further. In September there will probably be more children in the program.
Due to the short notice from the government there was not sufficient time to evaluate more children this year.

Materials to be used in conjunction with the program will be available next year to aid the children during the waiting period for the reading class. If the program proves worthwhile after the three-year period, Miss Allen expressed the hope the town would approve some funds to continue the instruction.

Miss Allen also urged all parents of children needing special attention to bring these facts to her notice, or to any school principal, the year before the child enters school.
This early information gives the principal time to prepare a program outlined for the child.

Mrs. Otto M. Schlaegel, a new resident of Marion, was introduced by Miss Allen.
Mrs. Schlaegel is associated with a group
CHAP (Children Have A Potential) and discussed its background briefly. Tentative plans will be made to have Mrs. Schlaegel as a guest speaker for a future meeting.

First, the Old Rochester F.T.A. gave the Wareham F.T.A. and the five speakers a tour of Old Rochester, which they thoroughly enjoyed.

Following that, the guests were served refreshments in the cafeteria.

Then, everyone went to the auditorium to hear the speakers: two professors, Dr. Deleo and Professor John Kent; and three senior students. The three students talked about their junior and senior years at Bridgewater in which they experienced rewarding satisfaction for their hard work of four years. A question and answer period followed the talk. Good questions were asked and informative answers were given.

"A real thrill in every gift", says the chairman of the Fund, Miss Lydia LeB. Walker. "It's wonderful to find out the people who care. Each giving of one or of fifty dollars takes doing. Whenever I open an envelope, I feel there is something more than the check itself in my hand."

A special committee will consider how the sum, already near $150.00, will be made the most useful to the Historical Society. Members will meet on Thursday night, June 6th, at 7:45 P.M. at 24 North Street, home of the chairman.

The Fund will remain open for contributions beyond the arrival of summer residents, who will care to contribute to benefit the Mattapoisett Historical Society in honor of its late distinguished member and supporter, Miss Minerva M. Sparrow, who passed away recently. Checks are to be made payable to the Mattapoisett Historical Society, marked "in memorium" and mailed to Miss Lydia LeB. Walker, Box 172, Mattapoisett. A few donations have been received outside of this immediate area.

WHO IS E.A.S. 1914?

Mr. Richard Cole of Mattapoissett has found a box turtle on the old Haskins Estate on Walnut Plain Road in No. Rochester. The turtle's shell is carved with the date 1914 and the initials of E.A.S. Mr. Cole has looked up on the old map of Rochester the name of William P. Smith. The Smith home was one of two on Walnut Plain Road near the Haskins Estate. He wonders if anyone now living in the area knows about the initials or whether anyone can hazard a guess as to the identity of the person who marked the turtle.

Special additive in today's Shell Heating Oil helps give more warmth per gallon, top heating performance

There's a new additive in today's Shell Heating Oil. Called FOA-5X, this Shell product works round the clock to protect your fuel system—from storage tank to burner head. FOA-5X helps reduce build up of heat-robbing deposits that can collect in critical areas of your burner. It lets Shell Heating Oil burn in a radiant, even flame. It helps reduce service calls and expense. The result: more warmth per gallon of fuel—top performance at minimum cost. Before you buy your next gallon of heating oil, call us. We will give you complete details about Shell Heating Oil with FOA-5X and about our service.
